Clues:

Cemeteries are spooky,
filled with the dead.
But believe it or not—
it's history fills our head.

A lot of our streets
were named after the people.
Near it was a church
built with a white steeple.

The church is now gone
but the cemetery remains.
There are quite a few families with unusual first and last names.

Enter the cemetery
from the front gate.
Go straight down the path.
Check each stone and each date.

Pass the first two rows
and then take a right.

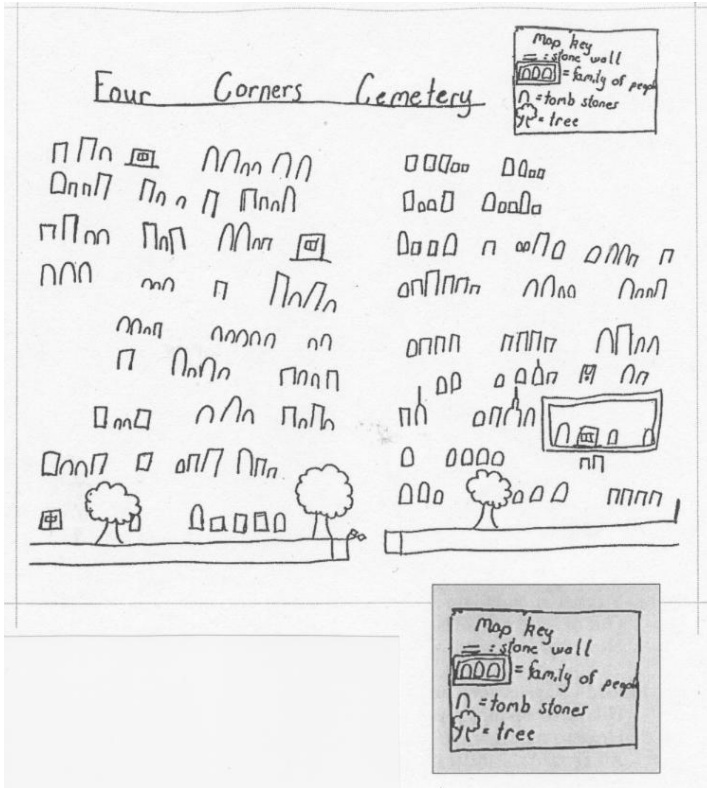

Continue down to the end,
a rock with "fogg" will come into sight.

The Fogg's family's buried there.
It's the only rock of its kind.
No other rock like this in the cemetery you'll find!

Look on the other side
and over the wall.
Your treasure is there.
Stamp your passbook, don't stall!

Take time to read the stones.
The earliest person born in 1813.
The youngest child died
age 3 weeks; too young it seems.

There were families with many kids.
Husbands had lots of wives.
They died very early.
They lived quite short lives.
