One volunteer team created a Google map to keep track of their door-to-door canvassing. A paper map or even a list of streets would work well as a lower-tech solution.